The Art of Design Presents: A Happening No. 1: A Curated Introduction

John Devoy's, July 22nd, 2025

New York, NY (July 15th, 2025) — The Art of Design is proud to announce A Happening No. 1: A Curated Introduction, an exclusive one-night-only art event on Tuesday, July 22, 2025, at John Devoy's at 377 Park Avenue South in New York City.

This special evening marks the first in a new series of pop-up shows presented by The Art of Design and curated by founder Matthew Eck, signaling an exciting new chapter for the brand and its vibrant community of artists.

Hosted on the intimate mezzanine level of John Devoy's, a new craft bar and restaurant known for its warmth and character, the event will feature a selection of emerging and established artists from The Art of Design's roster. Each artist will present one to two pieces, offering guests a chance to engage directly with the work and the creative minds behind it.

"This is the first special event I've put together in eight years, and no matter the scale, it feels incredibly special to share this moment," says Matthew Eck, founder of The Art of Design.

Guests can expect 20 contemporary works, ranging from abstracts to figurative pieces, all chosen to complement the inviting energy of John Devoy.

The participating artists include: Anne-Marie Cosgrove, Cheryl Hayman, Emily Lamb, Gene Dorgan, Jennifer Charboneau, Matthew Vanalstine, RobRoy Chalmers, and Soo Kim.

Artworks from our private collection include work from: Wen Zhi, Pichler Klaus, and Christian Hooker.

Happening No. 1 also serves as a preview of a larger exhibition series planned for fall 2025, as The Art of Design continues its mission to showcase art in unexpected, immersive spaces throughout New York City.
